Meat Reform Triumphs

Disclosures in recent months about filthy conditions in many packing and processing facilities not under federal inspection have made plain the need for prompt reform. It is evident that at present substantial amounts of meat and meat products do not measure up to high standards of wholesomeness and purity.

Congress has now responded, after considerable backing and filling, with legislation to extend federal inspection standards — within two or at most three years — to some 15,000 plants not now covered because they sell their products only within the home state. This agreement by House and Senate conferees is particularly gratifying because it has been achieved in the face of a vigorous attempt by the meat industry to delay reform.

The rather mild bill passed some time ago by the House appeared to be largely a response to this lobbying pressure coupled with cries of states' rights. It would have placed the burden of reform mainly on the states, whose record for acting to subject meat to adequate inspection ranges from mediocre to bad. Had the House measure prevailed, changes in many states might have been intolerably slow.

The Senate took the bull by the horns and passed tougher legislation, and it is essentially this approach that has now been approved. Under the compromise bill, states will be required to set up inspection programs matching federal standards within two years — three in special circumstances where a strengthened program is under way. The federal government can impose its own standards if states fail to act.

Thus the prospects are good that within a couple of years most of the plants not now subject to federal inspection will be complying with comparable standards. For the first time, then, consumers will be reasonably sure that any meat they buy is pure and wholesome.

Pressure For Controls

The word from both big industry and big labor is that neither is inclined to pay much attention to President Johnson's appeals for a curb on wage and price increases. Steel, which as Senator Hart notes "has a multiplying effect on the economy greater than any other product," has gone ahead with price boosts in the face of presidential exhortations. Labor leaders at the AFL-CIO convention have turned a cold shoulder to pleas for restraint.

This will inevitably speed up the inflationary spiral, and as usual the consumer will get it in the neck. The intransigence of labor and management raises a further question not to the liking of either, however: Will this course lead to government wage and price controls?

The prospect is no mere bugaboo—something that can't happen. The little war in Vietnam has become a big war. Though our economy still can manage both guns and butter in abundance, the pressures that go with big war are increasingly evident.

The President has not yet overtly threatened imposition of controls. He hinted at them, however, in his second appeal to the steel firms. If they practice "voluntary restraint," he said, that will make "involuntary curbs" unnecessary. One could argue that the administration is unlikely to impose wage and price controls in a presidential election year. Yet if the pressure grows enough, it could happen.

No one, including Mr. Johnson, wants controls such as have been imposed in previous wars. But the longer key labor business leadership continues to balk at voluntary restraint, the stronger the possibility of controls becomes.

90th Congress Seeks To Regain Lost Authority

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Whatever the final record of the 90th Congress, it is most likely to be remembered for trying to recapture influence and authority previous congresses have lost to the executive branch.
By ordering substantial cuts in spending before it will even consider President Johnson's request for a tax increase, Congress has told the administration it wants a larger voice in controlling the growth of the federal government.

By transferring control of important education and anti-poverty programs from the federal bureaucracy to state and local governments it has called for a halt in the long trend toward centralization of authority in executive agencies in Washington.

Also under challenge is the President's authority to send U.S. forces into overseas combat without congressional approval. A resolution calling on the President to get such approval is awaiting Senate debate.

Such congressional declarations of independence would have seemed ludicrous to an earlier breed of congressmen accustomed to dealing with passive presidents.

But the exercise of presidential power that marked occasional administrations became an overpowering force in the early days of the New Deal. White House occupants since Franklin D. Roosevelt have consolidated and added to his gains.

Where presidents once were content to suggest programs for Congress to act on, they now send the complete draft of bills to Capitol Hill and fight any attempt to alter them.

Under the shadow of nuclear war and recurring foreign crises, presidents since 1950 have tended to act first in foreign affairs and then ask Congress to back them up.

"We want to pause in the headlong rush toward ever bigger government," said Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee in touching off the revolt against Johnson's tax request.

The Senate resolution calling on Congress to "reassert its constitutional authority over the use of the armed forces" said until it does "the American people will be threatened with tyranny or disaster."

Whether the 90th Congress will be able to follow up what it has begun remains to be seen. The move is essentially a reaction to the Vietnam war and its economic dislocations.

An improvement in the war situation might cool congressional ardor for a fight with the President, particularly in an election year with its stress on party loyalty.

But the things that are being said now about the need for Congress to reassert itself have a validity beyond the moment, and if not the 90th, a future Congress may heed them.

Back McCarthy Or LBJ? Democratic Doves On Spot

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy's decision to make the 1968 race against President Johnson gives the country's Vietnam critics the focus they want yet puts the Senate's covey of Democratic doves in a troublesome limelight.

While the National Conference of Concerned Democrats is busy making McCarthy its new hero, the dovish senators must prepare to decide whether to throw in with them, side with the presumably "unconcerned Democrats" who continue to back the President, or try to go on fudging the whole thing.

Of seven Democratic doves for whom the matter has urgency because they are up next year, three already have decided to support Johnson's renomination and election. They are Sens. Joseph Clark of Pennsylvania, Wayne Morse of Oregon and Ernest Gruening of Alaska.

The choice is tantalizing in varying degrees for the other four: Sens. Frank Church of Idaho, George McGovern of South Dakota, Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin and J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas.

In 1962 McGovern won a first term by less than 1,000 votes. A lively campaign by McCarthy, based in a neighboring state, will not make it easy for the South Dakotan to pick his way through the minefields in 1968.

Nelson, another McCarthy neighbor, will find him smack in the middle of the influential Wisconsin primary held April 2. If Nelson opts for loyalty to LBJ, many in the state's academic enclaves will cut him hard. If he pleases them by backing McCarthy, resentful loyalists could hurt him in a fall race against a possibly strong Republican rival.

Fulbright, whose distaste for the President and his Vietnam policies seems to have reached obsessive proportions, has a particularly agonizing problem. He faces a tough 1968 primary adversary in former Gov. Orval Faubus, and he comes from a section of the nation where war support is relatively strong.

Church may perhaps feel somewhat less pressure in Idaho, though a stout Republican opponent might find him a more vulnerable target in the fall if he had backed McCarthy in a losing cause against Johnson.

Actually, McCarthy's candidacy puts on the spot all the Democratic doves, not just those with thorny 1968 problems. That includes McCarthy himself and at least three others — Sen. Stephen Young of Ohio, Vance Hartke of Indiana and Albert Gore of Tennessee — who face the voters again in 1970.

What will hereafter be examined in far sharper light are their arguments against the war and their credibility and credentials as critics.

Over the months since early 1965, they have many times shifted their critical ground, even as they chided the President for shifting his arguments. They have been fuzzy about alternatives.

With McCarthy stepping into the presidential arena, the soft times are over. The interrogators will be tough not only on him but on supporting doves as well. They will want less fuzz and more fact.

Some may want to know why McCarthy, Fulbright and some other doves have not gone to Vietnam in the period of heavy U.S. participation to test their criticisms in on-the-scene investigations.

Young of Ohio has been there. McGovern made a tour in the early stages of our big effort. Clark talks of going early in 1968. For most of the others, that is about it. Basically, they have been armchair critics. In at least two instances, Democratic doves are said to have resisted urgings that they go.

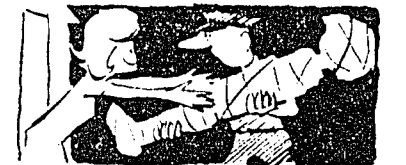

Though senators are supposed to be the foreign affairs specialists, the evidence at hand suggests that more Democratic governors than senators have visited Vietnam in the last 2½ years.

Under steadier glare on this and many other counts, the Senate's Democratic doves may come to see McCarthy's candidacy as both blessing and curse.

Ann Landers: Ugly Duckling Easy Prey

By ANN LANDERS
Dear Ann Landers: Please warn mothers that outward appearances mean nothing. Tell them to keep their eyes on their daughters and not to take anything for granted. Just because a girl seems withdrawn doesn't mean she's leading a quiet life. My friend who has two daughters learned this lesson the hard way. Her 20-year-old Linda was beautiful, well-built and she attracted boys like crazy, starting at age 13. The mother felt the need to keep close tabs on this girl—and she did. They had frequent heart-to-heart talks and the lines of communication were always open. After every date the girl sat on her mother's bed and told her what the evening had been like.

Daughter Number Two (Marie) was 18 months younger—not at all pretty. She was noticeably overweight and had a bad complexion. This girl spent most of her time in her room with her nose in a book. The mother never concerned herself about Marie's morals because she seldom had a date and expressed very little interest in boys.

In September Linda was married to a fine young law student. She wore a white gown and I'll bet she deserved to. Last week Marie wore a white gown also—but it was a hospital gown. She gave birth to a 9-pound baby boy. (No husband in sight and not a clue as to who the father might be.)

The mother nearly had a nervous breakdown. She repeated over and over, "I never dreamed such a thing would happen to her—of all people!"

I'm sure you get the message,

Ann. Will you please get it across to the mothers? Thank you.—JUST AN OBSERVER

Dear Just: Your letter got the message across very well. But here's a re-cap.

That not-so-pretty, not-so-popular girl is infinitely more vulnerable than the charmer with good looks and personality. An ugly duckling, in her eagerness to be loved, can be easy prey for the smooth operator who makes her believe that if she gives in he will love her. She also may feel that since she has less to offer she must be excessively generous with her physical favors. Are you tuned in, mothers? I hope so.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a jerk. All his life he has done people favors. He repairs their electric appliances, drives them wherever they want to go, lends them money, signs notes at the bank and sits up half the night doing their tax returns. Just name it and my schnook does it.

I've told him for 22 years that he is a fool—that he should charge for his services, that people don't appreciate what they get for nothing. He pays no attention to me whatever.

He thinks you are a very smart woman. Will you please give him some of your common sense, down-to-earth advice?—IGNORED

Dear Ignored: The advice is for you, Lady. Get off his back. You say he hasn't listened to you in 22 years so why not take the hint?

If your husband charged for his favors he'd lose the pleasure of giving—and this, my friend, can be a lot more rewarding

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1901, the Italian inventor, Guglielmo Marconi, sent the first wireless telegraph signal across the Atlantic—from Newfoundland to Britain.

On this date:

In 1642, New Zealand was discovered by the Dutch navigator, Abel Tasman.

In 1745, the first U.S. Chief justice, John Jay, was born.

In 1870, the Germans occupied Dieppe during the Franco, Prussian War.

In 1894, Japanese troops invaded Korea.

In 1937, an international incident was touched off when Japanese planes sank the U.S. gunboat Panay in the Yangtze River above Nanking, China.

In 1944, during World War II Tokyo was partially evacuated because of fire-bombing by American Superfortresses.

Ten years ago: The Soviet Union called on all U.N. members to support what was called the Soviet program of peaceful co-existence.

Five years ago: Members of the Atlantic Alliance, meeting in Paris, agreed the United States had won an important round in the recent Cuban missile crisis.

One year ago: The U.S. Supreme Court upheld the conviction of James R. Hoffa of the Teamsters Union on charges of jury-tampering.

Cases Monday

Magistrate Paul Fenstermaker Monday set fines in three cases for which evidence was presented two weeks ago.

Howard Dale McGlasson, 34, of 604 East Lafayette was denied probation and ordered to pay a fine of $200 and $25 court costs. McGlasson had entered a plea of guilty to resisting arrest and asked for probation.

Two Meredosia young men were fined following a presentence investigation. Richard VanHynning, 18, was fined $150 and $25 court costs and a companion, Donald R. Fanshier, 19, was fined $100 and $25 court costs. Magistrate Fenstermaker then remitted $50 of Fanshier's fine for what he said was a "very good" past record.

Both young men were arrested several weeks ago on charges of illegal consumption of liquor. They asked and received a trial without a jury and were found guilty by the court. Fenstermaker ordered an investigation into the background of the two men before passing sentence.

a system of tracking all individuals who are involved in Project 100,000 through the military reserve units to which all will eventually be attached.

In order to make the long-range evaluation valid, the Pentagon will hire a private firm to follow the social progress of another group of individuals who barely failed, for one reason or another, to get in the project 100,000 program, Greenberg said.

This probably will involve a sampling of perhaps 2,500 men whose backgrounds are similar to the new standards individuals in geographical area, race and education. This second group would be interviewed by the firm mainly about their jobs, or lack of them.

The program has McNamara's personal stamp of approval. He has said many of the men rejected for service are victims of "the slow and silent poison of the poverty virus."

Brodt said one of the outstanding new protections for the consumer was establishment of ceilings on interest charged on retail installment sales of goods and services, including motor vehicles.

Sen. Arthur Gottschalk, R-Flossmoor, sponsored the legislation which Gov. Otto Kerner approved. Kerner said it fell short of goals of some reformers but provides a "solid foundation for good credit practices."

A key law provides that when more than $50 is bought unsolicited from a door-to-door salesman, the buyer may cancel the purchase. He can do this by returning the merchandise and notifying the salesman within a three-day period.

About 30 per cent of the complaints received by Brodt's division in warm months related to door-to-door selling. Up to now, the Consumer Fraud Division has had jurisdiction over fraudulent sales without regard to credit abuses.

The office received $381,000 to enforce the credit reform laws under its jurisdiction. The Consumer Fraud Division has representatives full time in Chicago and Springfield, and part time in Rockford, Rock Island, Peoria and East St. Louis.

Other provisions of the credit reform package made it unlawful for the seller:

-To retain any down payment if the seller rejects the buyer's application for credit.

-To negotiate a contract with the intent not to furnish merchandise of the type and quality ordered.

-To be guilty of three or more violations in one calendar year.

-To collect an obligation from a spouse who is not a co-signer unless the default is for at least 30 days.

-Not to display the cash sale price of the goods if he gives the purchase price in terms of periodic payments. -To refuse, if a motor vehicle dealer, to be responsible for some repair costs of a vehicle unless the purchase contract clearly states that no warranty is offered as to mechanical condition. Minimum warranties are specified.

The new Retail Installment Sales Act provides that if a buyer has paid 60 per cent of the total sale price at the time of default, the seller has five days after a buyer voluntarily surrenders the goods to either retain the goods and release the buyer or return the goods and sue for the balance of the debt. Under present law, the buyer must have paid 80 per cent.

Kerner, in signing the legislation, said imposition of dollar limits on the time differential in retail and auto installment sales is "extremely significant."

Rates on the principal balance are, if less than $500, a total of $16 per $100 a year; if between $500 and $800, a total of $14 per $100; if in excess of $800, a total of $12 per $100. The rate on revolving charge accounts will be $1.30 per $100 per month. The total amount owed on a revolving charge must be displayed side by side with the monthly payment due.

Wages of the family head will be exempt from garnishment up to $65 a week and single persons up to $50. The current exemption is $45 for everyone.

cent, thus turning it wholly into paper money," the committee statement said.

It's been more than 30 years since Americans could hold gold in other than jewelry, tooth fillings or other industrial or artistic purpose.

Many people, Treasury officials have said, still don't realize that since 1934 U.S. citizens have been forbidden to hoard gold. Only foreign central banks—the counterpart of the Federal Reserve System—have the privilege of exchanging dollars for gold.

The United States is one of the few remaining industrial countries still linking its currency to gold internally.

Of the free world's major countries, only Switzerland, Belgium, the Netherlands and South Africa have such a link.

of growth... There are some who tell us that it is too expensive; that it is too dangerous; that the effort cannot succeed."

Johnson argued that progress in America can never be too expensive. He said: "It is sickness and ignorance and discrimination and crime which cost too much... It is not action but inaction that costs too much."

The President said colleges like Central Texas are being established at the rate of one a week.

"In the past six years," he said, "the number of young people going to college from poor homes has risen by more than 12 per cent."

"In those years, the number of high school dropouts has dropped—from 25 per cent to only 13 per cent of young people between 16 and 24 years old."

Johnson said that these years like those of growth on the frontier, "are noisy with the sound of controversy." But he said: "That should not daunt us—any more than it daunted the settlers of yesterday who sought a newer world."

Johnson flew to his ranch Saturday after the White House wedding of his daughter Lynda Bird and Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb. Mrs. Johnson joined him there Monday and planned to stay longer.

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Curiosity about what the turn of the calendar may reveal becomes almost unbearably persistent at this time of the year and, in response, the economic seers rush to assuage the anxiety. But do they?

Here are some questions for which nobody seems to have the answers:

—Will Gen. Charles de Gaulle's anger and frustration with the United States provoke him into stiff regulations against American investment in France? What will be the extent of such controls? Would he seize American plants?

There is little hard evidence that such thoughts are being considered seriously by De Gaulle. However, evidence of a sort is provided by De Gaulle's consistency. On several other matters his rather mild feelings, as first revealed, were escalated steadily. Consider how he threw out the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

—Will President Johnson seek from Congress rigid controls rather than voluntary restraints on wages, prices, interest rates and rents?

This is a possibility, but judging from Johnson's inability to get his way with Congress so far, it is unlikely that he could obtain such powers. Nevertheless, the need of either fiscal restraint or controls is there.

Complicating this question is the nation's gold loss problem. The less the dollar buys domestically because of inflation the weaker is its value also in the eyes of foreign holders. They'll want to convert dollars to gold.

The pressure definitely is on. It could result in higher taxes, less spending, a combination of the two, or rigid controls such as the nation has had in other wars.

—As its gold supply diminishes, will the United States remove the gold cover on domestic currency?

This is a very real probability, for the gold now available for redeeming foreign-held dollars is growing very small. Foreign claims, if exercised, would deplete the supply.

At the present time the United States has less than $13 billion of monetary gold, and $10 billion of that is legally frozen in order to back domestic currency. It simply must remain buried at Ft. Knox.

Many financial authorities, including Federal Reserve Chairman William McChesney Martin, now feel that this gold should be made available to stave off attacks on the dollar by foreign speculators.

If the gold cover is removed, it will be an historic step in freeing mankind from what many consider a medieval fixation on gold, which is really just a little bit different chemically from lead.

—Will Britain weather her problems? Will she be able to take advantage of devaluation to put her finances in order?

Devaluation, which makes a country's goods more attractive, can be an advantage only for a limited period of time. After that its own costs begin creeping up and so does the price of its goods.

Britain must really create a surge in exports along with sharp cutbacks in its intake. Only in this way can it sell more abroad than it consumes at home and thus pay its international bills.

There are some indications, however, that the world isn't going to be able to buy those British goods for 14.3 per cent less. Some of the 14.3 per cent is being kept by British producers rather than being passed on.

mail stamps from 8 to 10 cents. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he anticipated no difficulties in speeding the spending cut measure to the White House, which called for the slashes as part of a proposal for a 10 per cent surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes.

The administration advocated the budget cuts in hopes of persuading Congress to approve the tax boost but there's no chance of action on taxes before next year's session.

Before agreeing on the $4.1 billion figure the House rejected 213 to 183 a GOP proposal for slashes totaling $5.7 billion.

The bill approved would require federal agencies to cut personnel costs by 2 per cent and other controllable expenditures by 10 per cent.

The action came shortly before the House vote to raise salaries of federal workers more than 10 per cent over the next 19 months.

Congress itself would be exempted from the economy drive if it is ordering for most other federal agencies. The federal judiciary wouldn't be affected, either.

Also exempt would be national defense programs, veterans' benefits, Social Security benefits, farm-price supports and health insurance payments.

Percys

Both allied groups ran into fortifications manned by the seasoned 22nd Regiment of the North Vietnamese 3rd Division.

Over the next six days the allied troops pushed forward, then pulled back while planes, artillery and helicopter gunships pounded the enemy over a five-mile stretch of the coast.

The Communists made a final stand in the fortified village of Truong Lam, which was overrun Monday. In it the cavalrymen found about 60 new graves in which the Reds had hastily tried to conceal some of their dead.

Percy, frequently mentioned as a possible Republican presidential candidate, had some time to spare after a visit to a resettlement village and asked the pilot of his chartered white helicopter to give him a look at Dakson, near the Cambodian border, where the Viet Cong massacred an estimated 200 Montagnard tribesmen last week.

The senator said he had asked that he be given no military escort for any of his field trips and the thought of an attack "never really occurred to me."

"We circled the village five or six times," Percy said, "there seemed to be no sign of life so we took the chopper in."

Leaving Mrs. Percy in the helicopter with the pilot, and two crewmen, the rest of the party got out and walked about 75 or 100 yards into the village.

Percy had a .38-caliber snub-nosed revolver and Dennis Smith, a U.S. refugee official, carried a rifle.

The attack broke just as Percy was emerging from one of the bunkers in which many of the Montagnard tribesmen were trapped in the Viet Cong raid Dec. 5.

The helicopter flew Mrs. Percy to nearby Song Be and returned within 20 minutes, escorted by four or five other "copters." "That thing took off so fast we didn't have time to fasten our seat belts," the senator said.

Accompanying Percy, his wife and Smith were Scott Cohen, Percy's foreign affairs advisor, Fred Ward of Look magazine, and Kenneth Schmid, a friend of the senator from Chicago.

Queried by newsmen, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said someone will probably discuss Percy's future schedule with him and the possibility of a security escort, "but he is a senator and he has the right to go where he wants."

Mrs. Percy said when the first mortar round landed and the helicopter took off with her, "I grabbed the photographic equipment and papers lying on the floor of the helicopter and the crewman grabbed hold of me. We took off straight over the trees and flew to Song Be (about three miles away) to get help."

"Our problem was we didn't know where the fire was coming from," said the senator. "We were in among the unburned thatched huts because we wanted to get out of the cleared area, which was the burned out area."

"The five of us spread around. Scott took the flank. I took one sector over here. We were just watching for any type of movement."

Percy said his first thought was how to operate the revolver he had.

"I kept shouting to Dennis, 'Is the safety on or off?' He kept shouting something I couldn't hear and finally I determined there was no safety on it."

The group said despite the firing, they saw none of the Communist forces during the 20 minutes before their helicopter returned with an escort of armed Army choppers.

"Dennis Smith was magnificent," said Percy. "He directed us out (of the open area). When the mortars came in I started off toward the jungle. He directed me the right way."

Outwardly calm, Percy told of his narrow escape at a news conference. His clothes were muddied from his crawl.

"I've learned after living with him for 15 years that life is never dull around him," said Mrs. Percy.

During World War II, Percy enlisted in 1943 as an apprentice seaman and was honorably discharged two years later with the rank of lieutenant. He received an admiral's commendation for supervision of naval ordnance training units at the U.S. Naval Air Station in Alameda, Calif.

GRAIN EXPORTS UP DURING NOVEMBER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Exports of U.S. grains are ending the year at a favorable volume after lagging since the wheat harvest got under way this summer.

The Agriculture Department reports wheat exports totaled 66.35 million bushels during November compared with 55.9 million in the same month last year. But during the July-October period this year they totaled 257 million compared with 313 million a year earlier.

Exports of corn in November climbed to 74 million bushels, up 17 million over a year earlier.

GRAINS EDGE UP BUT BEANS MIXED

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices edged forward in good dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade today, but soybeans prices were mixed.

Wheat futures leaped ahead one cent a bushel shortly after the opening on a wave of commission house and local buying. Some short covering also tended to advance the price. Brokers with export connections and commercial interests were sellers.

Continued rainfall over wide sections of the Corn Belt was a strong influence on higher corn prices again. Trade reports indicate that some harvesting work now is four to five weeks behind schedule in sections of the Corn Belt.

There was some heavy commercial buying of corn and local professionals also were on the buying side. Exporters, elevator brokers and other commercial interests were sellers.

A report that last week's soybeans exports totaled 11.2 million bushels, about 1-3 more than the trade had expected, influenced higher prices for the nearby product. The deferred contracts, however, were lower.

Oats and rye futures advanced with corn and wheat, but wheat was slow.

Wheat was 3/4 to 1/2 cents a bushel higher, December 1.45 1/4; corn was 1/4 to 1/2 higher, December 1.18; oats were 1/2 to 3/4 higher, December 74 1/2 cents; rye was 1/2 to 1/4 higher, December 1.15 and soybeans were 1/4 lower to 3/4 higher, January 2.67 1/4.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market drifted lower in active trading late this afternoon.

Prices weakened after holding to a mixed pattern in early trading.

Declines among individual stocks topped advances by a narrow margin, reversing an earlier trend.

Brokers expressed the opinion that problems arising from the devaluation of the British pound were causing confusion and hesitation among investors.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 3.00 to 879.05, its lowest level of the session.

Steels, aircrafts, and drugs were mostly lower. Rubbers and airlines showed strength. Most other groups were mixed.

Changes of most key issues were fractional but some ranged to a point or two.

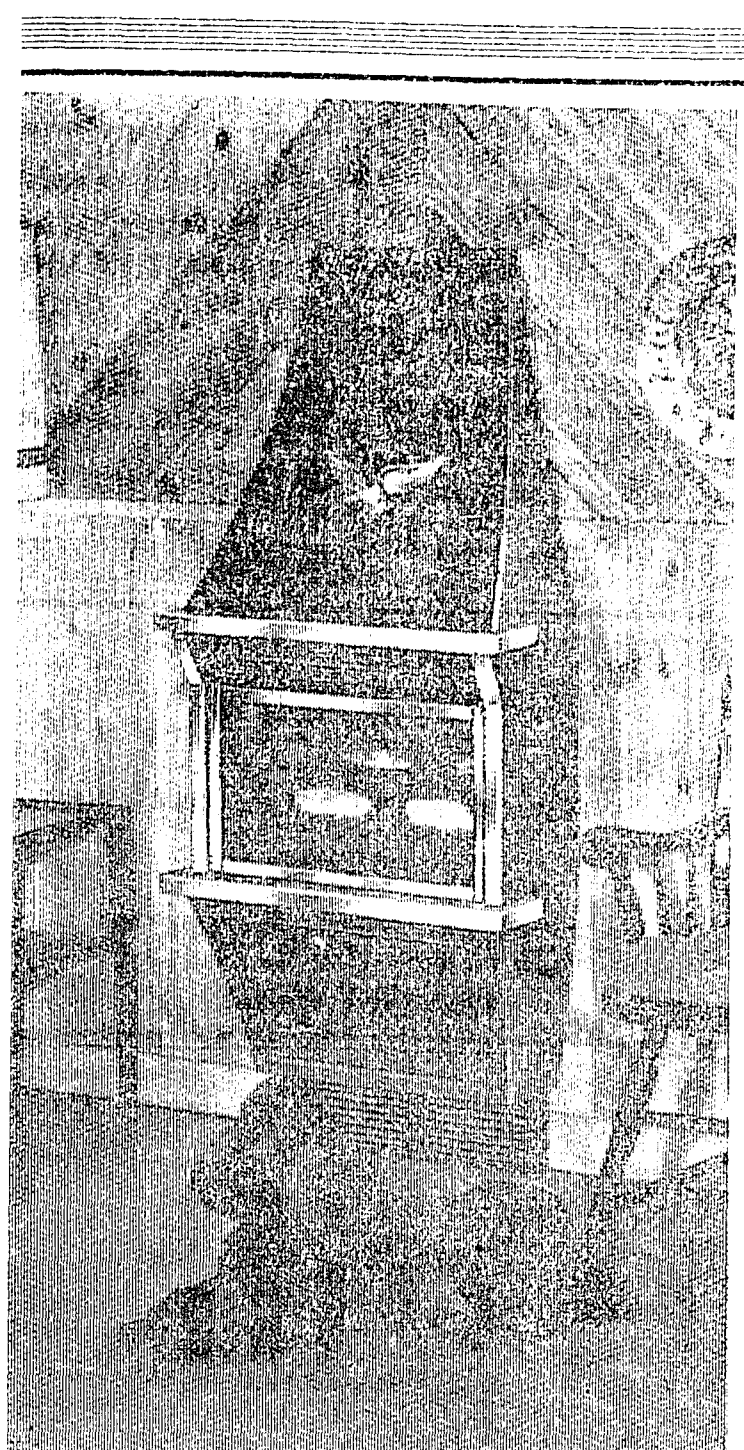

AJ Industries led the most-active list and advanced about a point. Up about 2 points were Occidental Petroleum, McDonnell-Douglas and Rohm.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The circus has come to town, but it's different from any circus folks have seen hereabout, being totally Russian.
On its second U.S. tour, the Moscow Circus is doing excellent business, thus gladdening the capitalistic heart of Morris Chalfen. He is the veteran Minneapolis-based showman who became sponsor of the Moscow Circus' American visits through a happy booking accident.
It seems that one of Chalfen's "Holiday on Ice" shows was appearing in a Paris pavilion that the Russians sorely needed for one of their own presentations. An East-West accord was reached. Chalfen agreed to remove his troupe in exchange for an American tour by the circus, which had long been sought by other entertainment importers.
"But then I had to please the State Department and the unions here," he explains. "To carry out the cultural exchange idea and to provide jobs for American performers, I had to send a circus to Russia. I lose money on it; but I make it back on the fabulous business the Moscow Circus does in this country."

The American circus has enjoyed an enthusiastic reception in Russia, Chalfen said. Then why does it lose money? Because American labor costs are much higher than those of the Russian performers, he explained. Also, prices are lower — $3.30 to 50 cents vs. $5 to $1.50 here — and the circus buildings are smaller, 3,000 average capacity vs. 8,000 here.
How do the circuses in the two countries differ?
"The Russians have more individual performers," Chalfen said. "There are at least a thousand acts there, and they even have schools to develop new ones. They're the greatest tumblers and acrobats, but they're weak on aerialists."
"We have acts that the Russians have never seen — chimps, roller skates, etc. They have no walk-around clowns with crazy costumes, as we do. Their clowns get their comedy by telling stories."
Chalfen believes the Russians will be sending more shows to this country, despite the cultural exchange slowdown because of the Vietnam war.

His grandson, Roger Lord, played with Norbert Kremer in the national rubber bridge tournament at the Sands. They reached the semifinals when Roger jockeyed the opponents into a four-spade contract and Norbert made the killing lead.
It was the last hand of the match. Roger was vulnerable, his opponents not; but his opponents held a 750-point lead on the score. If Roger could make a game he would collect a 700-point rubber bonus. This bonus plus his point score would give him the match. Otherwise, he needed to pick up a 500-point penalty. This would also win the match because he would get a 300-point bonus for his leg on the rubber.
He didn't think he had much chance when he picked up a king and two jacks, and he passed. South chirped a spade and Norbert overcalled with two hearts. North raised to two spades and Roger jumped right to four hearts.
South looked hard at Roger and Norbert. South didn't really think that Norbert would be able to make four hearts, but after some more thought South decided that he would surely be able to take eight or more tricks at spades and that since he could afford a two-trick set he had better bid four spades and insure the match.
Roger doubled and Norbert made the brilliant opening lead of the deuce of diamonds. South went right up with dummy's ace. He didn't want to take a chance of losing the first trick. Then he made the mistake of taking the spade finesse. West made his singleton king and led a second diamond. Roger won and led the jack of hearts. West's ace picked South's king. The queen of hearts was the fourth defensive trick, a heart ruff the fifth and the ace of clubs the sixth. South lost 500 points and the match!

Earthlings Have A Choice: Curb Birth Rate Or Starve

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
The book is science fiction. Its time is the future — about 800 years from now. It is a future that has demanded mankind's utmost ingenuity in resolving the ever-recurring food crises of an overpopulated Earth. All trees have been destroyed except for the food-producing one of the World Forest. Laboratories have created a mutant human species equipped to live under water and to so farm the seas for their nutrients.
But in the end all the scientists' brilliant technological solutions prove mere postponements of the inexorable one. In that end mankind is forced to know that this ball of rock called earth possesses only a limited amount of matter that can be converted into food. And the humans of A.D. 2767 are faced once more with the old choice—starvation or population control.
The book's title is "A Torrent of Faces" (Doubleday). It is the just-published work of biologist James Blish and chemist Norman L. Knight.
I mention it because its message so exactly parallels the one contained in the Population Crisis Committee's most recent newsletter. The message comes in form of a finding made by world food supply experts of the President's Science Advisory Committee.

Their finding: "The world food problem is so great that its solution demands programs of population control right now."

Commenting on it, the newsletter says:

"No one contests the facts in the Science Advisory Committee's report. But no one is yet ready to accept the massive challenge. Though U.S. assistance in food and family planning is increasing, it is a pittance compared with world need."

India alone, already ravaged by famine, must find food for nearly 1.5 billion additional mouths each month. Of this Indian crisis which foreshadows a world crisis, William H. Draper of our Food for Peace program declares: "India's fight to grow enough food to feed itself can be won only if its present birth rate is cut in half."

Yet this country's Negro movement includes young extremists who see American interest in world population control as white Americans' interest in seducing the world's colored peoples into race suicide. What they forget is that if all white people obligingly cut our throats tomorrow, earth's limited food-producing capacity would still exist.

ADK Teachers Sorority Has Holiday Party

Omicron chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa, international teacher's sorority, held its annual Christmas meeting Wednesday evening, Dec. 6th, at Hamiltons. Hostesses were Mary Sneed and June Brand who provided decorations in keeping with the season.

The centerpiece was an unusual arrangement of pine greenery and gold ornaments used with gold tapers in a greenery base. Holiday nutcrackers were at each place setting.

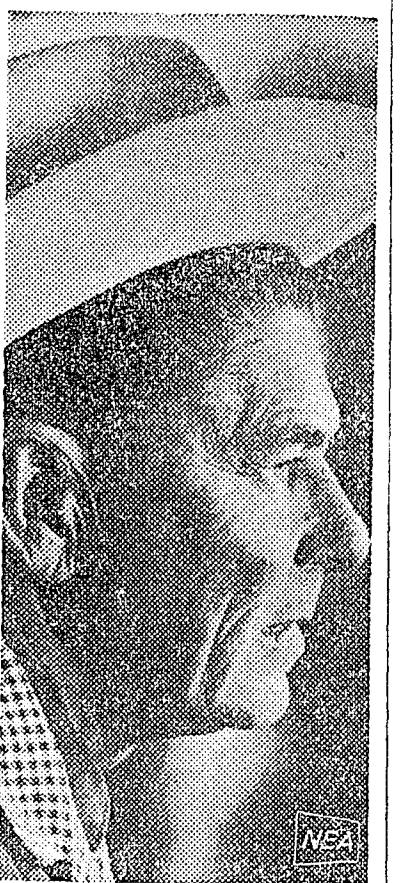

Before the dinner the 13 members recited the Alpha Delta Kappa pledge.

The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Charlene Strubbe. Mrs. Esther White, secretary, read minutes and in the absence of Mrs. Mildred McKean, treasurer, Mrs. White read the financial statement.

Correspondence included a letter from Pathway School telling of its progress; an invitation to members of ADK to attend a Dec. 29th breakfast, at the Sherman House in Chicago.

The state ADK president sent a report of committee activity at the recent state board meeting. There was a thank you from Mrs. Bonnie McCurdy for contributions made to the Day Care Center on East Walnut street and a letter from the ADK by-law committee.

After the meeting carols were sung, led by Mrs. Dorothy Busche, accompanied by Mrs. Mildred Kane. A gift exchange was enjoyed during the social hour. Mrs. June Brand received the holiday door arrangements, donated by Mrs. Strubbe.

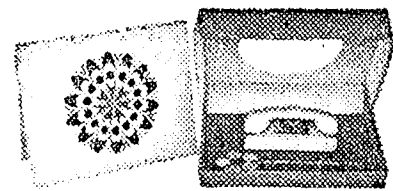

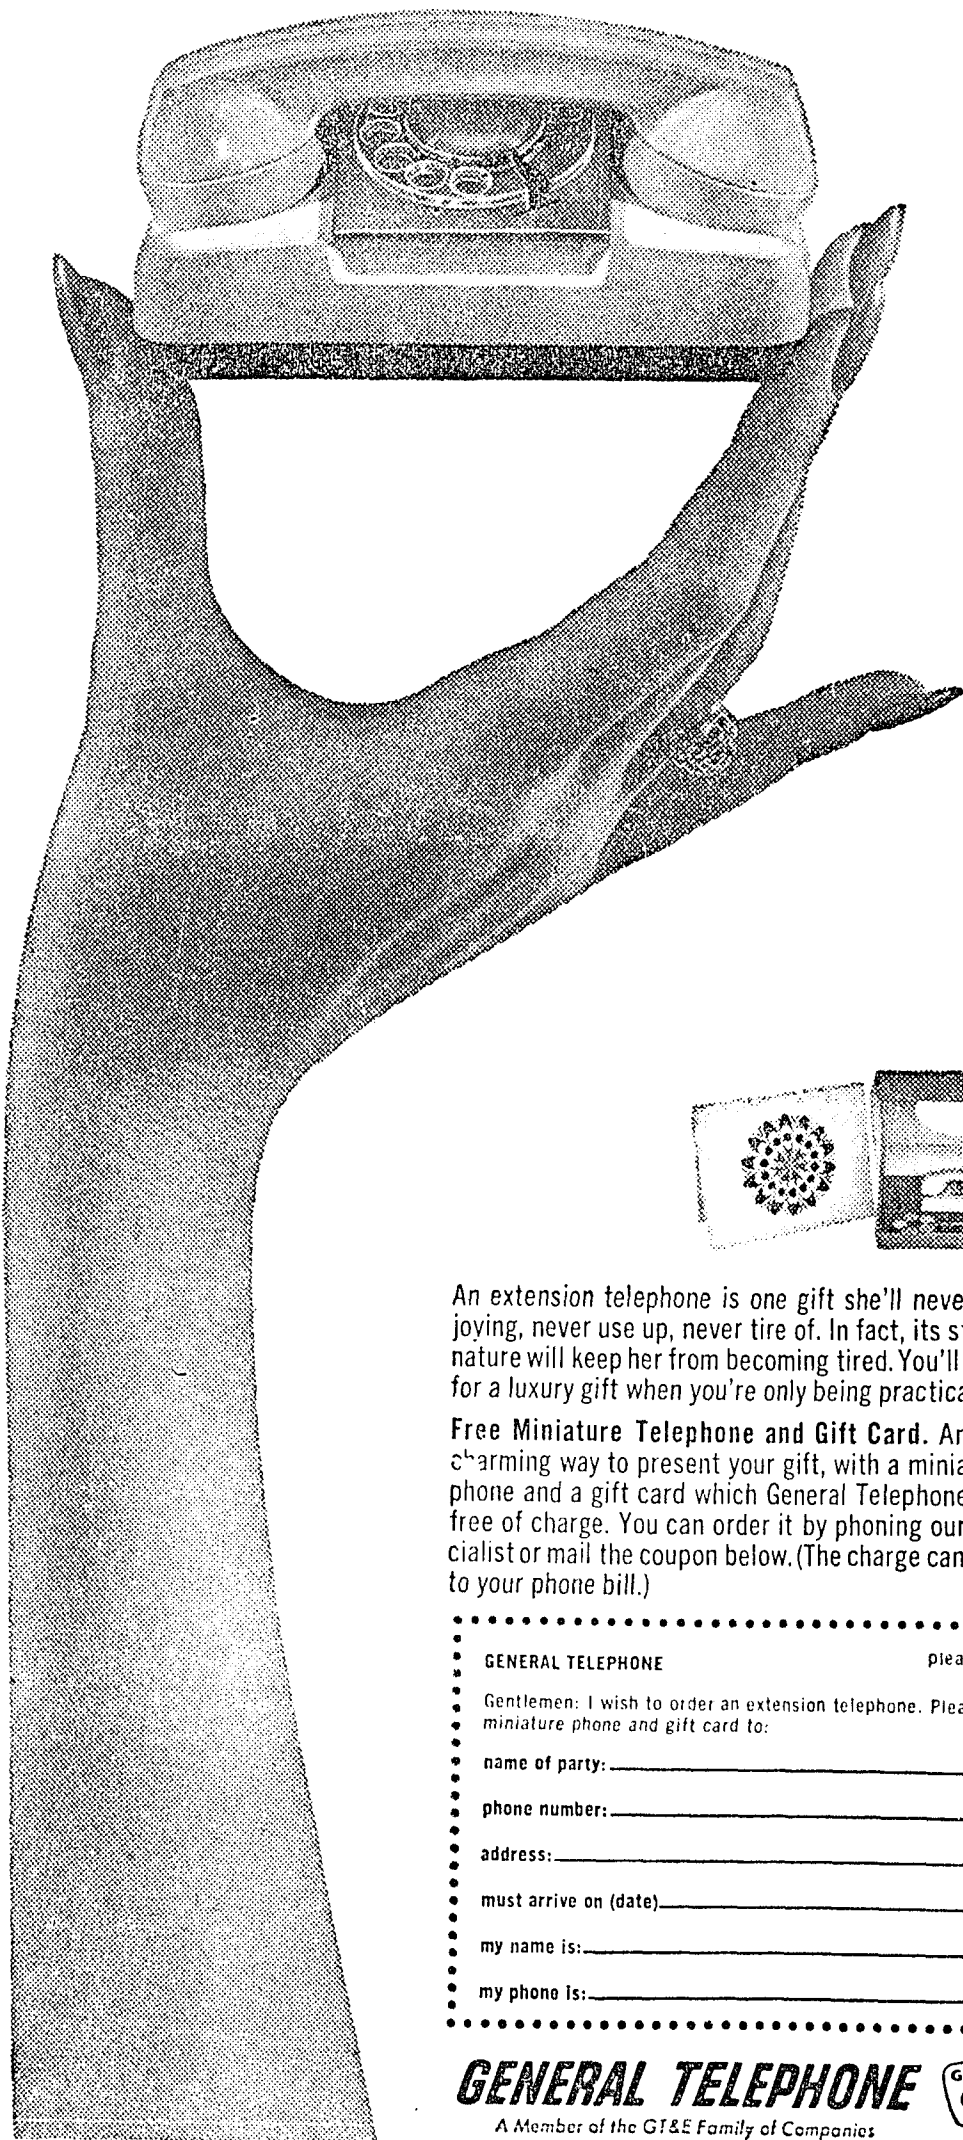

STILL ON HIS HEAD, but rumors are rife that California's Gov. Ronald Reagan may throw his hat in the ring for the presidential race next year. The former movie star is seen here at an Oregon football game.

to this undertaking.

It did not take long to find a patient suitable for cardiac transplant, and Mr. Louis Washkansky was considered to have heart disease incurable by any known treatment other than cardiac transplantation.

He also ha the correct mental approach and moral courage to submit himself to this new operation.

His blood was examined to determine the pattern of antigens on his red cells and white cells, as this would help us to select a suitable cardiac donor at a subsequent stage by a comparison of a similar antigenic analysis in the prospective donor.

A suitable donor would be a young person with an inevitably fatal disease or injury but having an undamaged heart.

Suitable young people in this category are almost exclusively patients involved in severe accidents.

As so little time is usually available between the time of the accident and the time of death of a severely injured patient, all possible preparations were made for the proposed operation beforehand.

The entire team to be involved in the transplant operation was on continuous stand-by.

Twelve units of fresh blood were drawn from 12 fresh volunteers and crossmatched daily in case they should be needed for this proposed operation.

On Saturday, Dec. 2, a young lady, Miss Denise Ann Darvall, was admitted to Groote Schuur Hospital having suffered severe injuries in an (auto) accident shortly before.

Intensive resuscitation was commenced immediately she was admitted, but when seen shortly afterwards by a neurosurgeon she was declared to have inevitably fatal brain damage.

Intensive resuscitation was continued and permission was obtained from the girl's father to remove her heart and kidneys after death for use in transplant operations.

The team was alerted, and the injured girl and Mr. Washkansky were taken to adjoining operating theaters where preparations were continued for two simultaneous open-heart operations.

The blood tests of the injured girl showed both the red cells and the white cells to be almost perfectly compatible with those of Mr. Washkansky, a great encouragement to us.

It became obvious that our treatment of the injured girl was rapidly failing to avert the fatal outcome, and Mr. Washkansky was anesthetized about 1:30 a.m. Sunday.

The operation commenced within half an hour of the commencement of the open-heart operation, when Mr. Washkansky's body had been cooled to protect his vital organs, the injured girl died, and the electrocardiograph showed complete paralysis of her heart.

The heart of the girl was exposed, connected to a heart-lung machine, and cardiopulmonary bypass was commenced with cooling of the blood in the bypass (heart-lung) machine.

When her heart was cooled sufficiently, it was removed by dividing the major veins and arteries and disconnected from the heart-lung machine in the first operating theater.

Her heart was transferred to the second operating theater, where it was reconnected within minutes to the second heart-lung machine and perfused (fed) with cold blood.

The perfusion continued during implantation of the heart.

Mr. Washkansky's aorta was clamped to isolate his heart from the blood circulating in the body and his severely damaged heart was excised (cut out), leaving portions of both atrial chambers to serve as the stem on to which the new heart would be grafted.

While the rest of Mr. Washkansky's body continued to be perfused from the heart-lung machine, the donor heart was sutured in position, using fine silk sutures to join the atria and main arteries of the new heart to those of Mr. Washkansky.

The future of this operation appears most encouraging, and plans are under way for a second heart transplant operation at Groote Schuur Hospital within the next few weeks.

The practical application of this operative procedure in the field of heart disease is unlikely to be very wide for a number of years.

The difficulties are not only those associated with the organization of a large and highly skilled team but are most particularly concerned with the supply of suitable hearts for transplantation.

The development of new techniques in suppressing the rejection of foreign tissue implanted into the body may allow a more indiscriminate choice of donor hearts on the grounds of immunological compatibility (less tendency for the body to reject a grafted heart) and may even allow the transplantation of organs from one species to another—for instance animals to man.

State Department Answers Soviet Warning Sharply

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department retorted sharply Monday to a Soviet warning against extending the war into Cambodia.

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the cause of peace would be "better served if those who expressed concern would use their influence in bringing the conflict to the negotiating table."

Moscow charged through its official news agency Tass that the U.S. military command had called for a blockade of the Cambodian coast or an invasion of Cambodia and neighboring Laos.

Tass charged that American authorities "are by all indications preparing to spread the fire of that war to other countries of southeast Asia."

The State Department spokesman said the United States has said many times it seeks no wider war.

An American offer, to provide material and financial support to the International Control Commission to permit a closer watch on the Cambodian-Vietnam border is still outstanding, he said.

"It remains the policy of the United States to respect Cambodian integrity and independence of both Cambodia and Laos," he added.

Setting up electric trains beneath or near a Christmas tree is a fire hazard.

Memorable Yesterdays Pattern Personalities

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK (AP) —Which is more important—yesterday, today, or tomorrow?

Well, tomorrow may never come, so one can't be certain of its value.

Today is here now, but it taries so briefly and flies so quickly that it is gone, often, before we are fully aware of its meaning.

And that leaves us yesterday, the day which, as we grow older, comes to have the biggest imprint on our lives. It is all our memorable yesterdays, incessantly strained through memory's bright sieve, what has given the individual pattern to our personalities and made us what we are.

You've sieved a lot of yesterdays yourself if you can look back and remember when:

Every few years some bewhiskered, addled old-timer would announce he was the famous bank robber, Jesse James, still alive.

A mother who wanted her son to grow up to be a genius stuffed him with fish as often as possible because fish was supposed to be good brain food.

Butchers almost had to give calf's liver away, because it was eaten only by cats and people so desperately poor they could afford nothing else.

No French leader dared knock the United States, because he knew here was where he had to float a loan to keep his country from bankruptcy.

Kids had as much fun sliding down a snow-covered hill on a pair of barrel staves as their own children do now going to an expensive ski resort.

Men worked hard 50 or 60 or more hours a week and looked forward to Sunday, because it was the one time in the week they could take a long, restful afternoon nap. Without those naps they couldn't have faced another Monday.

In 1927, Greta Garbo and John Gilbert appeared in "The Flesh and the Devil," and lanky young Gary Cooper got his first screen leading role in "Arizona Bound." Until then Gary had specialized in being shot off galloping horses for $10 a day, plus free studio limine.

Practically every boy in America carried in his pockets a top, some string, several marbles, and a pocketknife. No one worried about the knife, however, as it didn't contain a switchblade, and the boy used it only to whittle with or play mumblety-peg.

More men smoked cigars than cigarettes, and probably more chewed tobacco than smoked either.

"Take home" pay wasn't what was left after all the government deductions had been taken out; it was what a worker got home with after stopping off at a neighborhood saloon on payday.

It was the height of repartee to tell a friend on parting, "Don't take any wooden nickels." Nobody thought then we'd ever have to worry about rubber dollar bills.

Nixon Has Lead In Harrison Poll As Party Choice

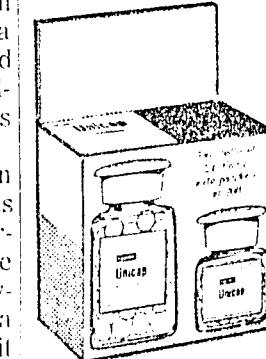

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon is now running decisively as the favorite for the presidential nomination among republicans but again has slipped behind President Johnson among the voters of all parties, the Harris poll said Monday.

The latest survey by Louis Harris, copyrighted by the Washington Post, found Johnson ahead of Nixon 47 per cent to 44 per cent. This is a decided shift from early November when Nixon led Johnson for the first time by 48 to 41 per cent.

"Despite his now clear-cut ability to run well ahead of other contenders within his own party," Harris said, "Nixon continues to suffer from a nagging doubt among a majority of all voters that 'he has lost too many elections.'"

"He appears to be in the anomalous position of being able to win Republican primaries, but having difficulty sustaining an advantage among the electorate at large."

Familiar ticker was born of necessity to replace foot messengers who struggled to record stock market transactions on paper and carry them physically to brokerage offices and banks.

Electronic variations such as this Telequote Ticker allow more than one person to view market action at the same time. Device made by Bunker-Ramo Corp. uses cathode-ray tube screen.

Activity on floor of New York Stock Exchange is communicated to financial world via ticker.

A CENTURY TICKS BY

December marks the 100th anniversary of the invention of the stock quotation ticker. Invented in 1867 by Edward A. Calahan, a telegraph operator, the ticker has evolved through gradually improving technology as an instrument capable of coping with most of today's market demands. The "moving finger" of the stock tape records minute-to-minute transactions at a pace heretofore reached only in panic or near-panic dealings.

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Q—I am a boy, 19, height 5-foot-3 and weigh 156 pounds. How can I gain weight?

Q—I am a girl, 18, I weigh only 85 pounds and I am 5-foot-3½. I feel left out of things because I am so skinny.

Q—I am a housewife, 5-foot-4½ and I weigh 105 pounds. How can I get back to 122, which I weighed three years ago?

A—There is but one formula for gaining weight: You must eat more calories than you use up as energy. The foods that will give you the most calories per pound are the easily digested fats—margarine, cream and butter. To start with, try getting one cubic inch of margarine three times a day, three eggs a day, one glass of half-cream-and-half milk three or four times a day and a cubic inch of American or brick cheese every day, in addition to the other elements of a well-balanced diet. Avoid taking any drugs that are supposed to put weight on you.

Q—Why is it that seven to 10 days before I start to menstruate my breasts feel heavy and sore? Would the fact that one ovary was removed make this condition worse one month than it is the next? Also, at about this time everything I eat causes acid indigestion. Why is this?

A—The changes in ovarian secretions that occur in regular monthly cycles cause retention of water in the tissues. This normal physiologic reaction causes the fullness in your breasts. The severity of the sensation varies in different women and may vary from month to month in the same woman. The removal of an ovary would not cause the fluctuations in intensity of this symptom as the same variations are seen in women who still have two functioning ovaries. Some women get relief from this discomfort and other manifestations of premenstrual tension by taking water pills, relaxants and other drugs for a few days.

Q—What is the cause of small brown moles on the face?

A—In most persons the tendency to have moles is hereditary even though they do not appear until late in life. The best treatment is to leave them alone or cover them with makeup cosmetics.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Vandy, Kentucky Climb In Ratings

By The Associated Press

Vanderbilt and Kentucky of the Southeastern Conference made the most rapid advances in The Associated Press' major college basketball poll Monday while Davidson, Indiana and Princeton gained rated positions for the first time this season.

UCLA's powerful Bruins continued to hold a commanding lead in the weekly balloting and Houston remained a strong runner-up.

Last week's ranking teams were beaten seven times all told, and it turned out to be unlucky seven for Kansas, Dayton and Purdue as the three dropped out of the Top Ten. Kansas was fourth, Dayton No. 6 and Purdue No. 7 a week ago.

UCLA was only one short of unanimous selection as the leading team. The Bruins collected 34 first place votes and one for second in the balloting by a national panel of 35 sports writers and broadcasters. Houston got the other first place vote.

The Bruins, winners of 37 games in a row over three seasons, lifted this year's record to 3-0 by wallopping Wichita State

Tornadoes, Wolves Cop Pike Co. Wins

HARDIN — Favored Griggs-ville and Pleasant Hill were pushed behind scoring first-round victories, here Monday night, in the annual Pike County Tournament.

Top-ranked Griggsville trailed eighth-seeded and winless Brussels 30-27 at halftime before pulling away in the final eight minutes for a 64-54 decision. Emmett Carnes tossed in ten points in the losers' surprising second quarter, while Charley Brown hit seven of his 18 in the third stanza in which Griggsville moved ahead.

Pleasant Hill made an 11-2 first-quarter lead stand up, although Barry made several second-half charges before falling 50-52. The losers pulled within three points in the third period and within four in the final chapter.

Victory Would Give Title To LA Despite Tie

NEW YORK (AP) — If the Los Angeles Rams beat the Baltimore Colts Sunday at Los Angeles, the Rams will win the National Football League's Coastal Division title although the teams would finish in an 11-12 tie.

The rules of the divisional championships provides that, in the case of a tie in percentage, the title is determined by the results of the two games between the clubs.

As they played a 24-24 tie Oct. 15 at Baltimore, a Los Angeles win Sunday would give the Rams the series edge and the title.

If the Colts win or tie, they advance to the Western Conference finals against Green Bay Dec. 23 at Milwaukee. Wisconsin also will be the site if the Rams meet the Packers.

Top-Seeded Virginia Rolls 96-57

GREENVIEW — Top-ranked and undefeated Virginia had no trouble in advancing to the second round, pounding Athens 96-57 in the Grinnview Tournament here Monday evening.

The Redbirds, now 4-0, got a 30-point evening from Greg Reiterman and three other players in double figures. All ten Redbirds made the scoring column.

Virginia led 21-14 and 46-28 at the first two stops and cruised in from there.

In the second game third-rated Riverton edged Tri-City 54-51.

Tonight's action pits second-seeded Greenview vs Rochester at 7:00 and fourth-ranked New Holland - Middletown against Elkhardt at 8:30.

Rams Are 2-Point Choice Over Colts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams, with one loss this season, are two-point favorites over the Baltimore Colts, with none, in their showdown clash here Sunday for the National Football League's Coastal Division title.

The Rams got the nod on the Los Angeles opening line by virtue of their 27-24 comeback victory over Green Bay last Saturday that skyrocketed the team into the "up" category and the fact they'll be playing at home.

Man to man, the picking is Los Angeles 5 to 4. In Las Vegas $7 on Los Angeles will return $5, and $5 on Baltimore will return $6.

Looking at the record, the Colts are 11-0-2 and the Rams 10-1-2. Each has a seven-game win streak since its last tie game. In their first get-together this year the Rams and Colts played a 24-24 tie at Baltimore Oct. 15.

The Rams will pick up the Coastal Division title if they win, even though they will be tied in the regular season standings with Baltimore at 11-1-2. A league rule provides that in

Colts Will Be Healthier Team Sunday

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts are going to be a much healthier group in Sunday's do-or-die game than they were in the earlier season tie with the Los Angeles Rams.

Raymond Berry and Jimmy Orr at ends and Alvin Haymond at defensive back were missing when the Rams rallied Oct. 15 to deadlock the Colts 24-24 in Baltimore.

All three are ready for the game in Los Angeles to decide the winner of the Coastal Division in the National Football League.

"Right now, we're in better condition than we were when we opened the season three months ago," Coach Don Shula said. "Strangely enough, it's because of experienced depth — experience because of the injuries."

Neither Berry nor Orr is expected to start against the Rams and if Haymond does it will not be at his original safety position.

Haymond played full time on defense for the first time Sunday against New Orleans at right corner back for the limping Lenny Hayes. Haymond intercepted two passes, returned a kickoff 46 yards and made five solo tackles.

"I may never get my job back," cracked Oly on his way smile.

Berry, after 12 seasons, and Orr, with nine, also find themselves in the odd position of being unable to reclaim their jobs immediately.

"Our championship clubs of past year," evaluates defensive end Ordell Evans, "I believe this is a better one because we've been able to come through despite so many injuries."

"This team's better over-all because of that," Braase was on the championship teams of 1953-59 and 1964 finalist.

As the Colts eased by the Saints for their 11th victory and two ties, the only injury Coach Shula reported was that Alex Hawkins, who has replaced Berry, broke his nose for the second time.

"It doesn't matter if I'm not ready," joked Hawkins. "My backup man has caught 600 more passes than I have."

Shula is counting on Hawkins, though. "We should be in 100 per cent physical shape for our make-or-break meeting with the Rams," Shula declared.

MacTumbles 78-60 To Oklahoma State

STILLWATER, Okla. — Perennial national power Oklahoma State raced to a big halftime margin but had to but down a pair of second half MacMurray threats before notching a 78-60 victory over the Highlanders, here Monday evening.

Playing its second major college powerhouse in four games, the MacMurray outfit made the charges of famed coach Hank Iba go all out.

Oklahoma State led by 20 points several times in the first half before holding a 38-12 intermission spread. Behind Al Killoran, who dumped in 12 of his 15 points in the second half, MacMurray roared back to get within nine points twice, the final time at 61-52 with 12 minutes to play. After that the Cowboys pulled away to stay.

Oklahoma State fired a hot 48% from the floor to Mac's 36% rate, and outrebounded the losers 47-20.

OSU is now 3-1 on the year, losing only to Wyoming last week, while the loss evened the case of a tie in percentage, the title goes to the team that scored the most points in the two games between the clubs.

Since their first game was a tie, a Rams victory has to give them the most points, the division title and the berth in the Western Conference playoff against Green Bay Dec. 23 at Milwaukee.

The loser is through for the season.

The Rams came out of the Green Bay game with no injuries and lots of jubilation. They studied films of the Saturday game on Monday and planned to start drilling Tuesday for the Colts.

A club spokesman said no lineup changes are being considered.

Southwestern Edges Warriors In Mat Dual 30-22

PIASA — Don Shanks scored a pin in the final match to insure Southwestern's 30-22 dual wrestling meet victory over IBSSS, here Monday evening.

Southwestern led 25-22 entering the final match and had to have the division to defeat the Warriors from Jacksonville.

IBSSS, now 0-4, won six of the 12 divisions, but Southwestern gained the difference on pins in their six victories. Bob Howell, Dan Thompson, Tom Crawell, Rick Parrish, Ken Staley and Hank Pearce were victorious for the losers.

Wareco and the Petefish Huggers captured their second straight victories and Illinois Road Contractors broke into the win column, in three YMCA Men's Basketball League contests Monday night at the David Prince gymnasium.

Wareco rolled to a 24-20 halftime lead and kept the margin in taking Anderson-Clayton, 47-29. Gale Waltrip and Steve Hills hit ten apiece for the winners, while Dave Allison topped all scorers with 18 points.

Illinois Road Contractors trailed 21-17 at intermission but put on a strong second half to outst Merodosia, 46-44. Tom Jones tossed in 22 points for the winners, while Dawson paced the losers with 15 points.

Petefish held a slim 25-21 intermission edge, but pulled away with a 41-point second half in downing Roadhouse, 66-52. Abe Brown led a balanced scoring attack for the winners with 16 points, while Bob Donovan's 18 points topped the losers.

The league will switch to the Jonathan Turner gym next week and games will be held on Tuesday evening.

CANADA SEASON TO CLOSE WEDNESDAY

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The special Canada goose season in four Southern Illinois counties will be closed at 3 p.m. Wednesday, the Illinois Conservation Department said Monday.

The 20,000 quota of Canada geese in Alexander, Jackson, Union and Williamson counties, prescribed by the Fish and Wildlife Service, will have been reached by the close of Wednesday's hunting, the department said.

Knicks' Bradley To Open Tuesday

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Bradley, the New York Knicks' $500,000 rookie, will make his first start Tuesday night, the Knicks said Monday.

Bradley will team with Dick Barnett in the backcourt when the Knicks take on the St. Louis Hawks in the second game of a National Basketball Association doubleheader.

Bradley, two-time All-American from Princeton, made his long awaited pro debut last Saturday night against the Detroit Pistons. He sat on the bench for the first quarter but started for the second quarter and wound up playing about 20 minutes.

He scored eight points on three of six shots from the field and two of six from the foul line.

College Sophs:

Greatest Of Decade

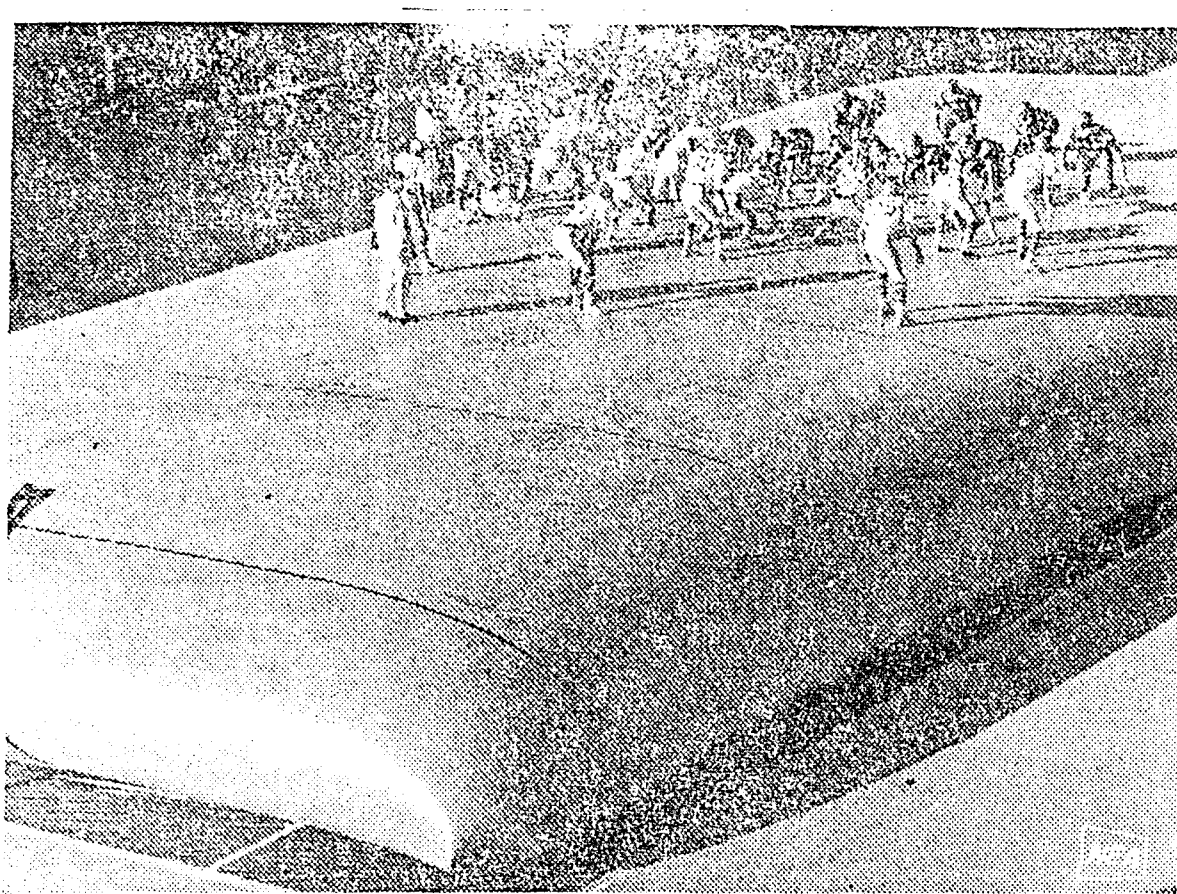

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Lew Alcindor second team All-American? Well, not quite. This season's sophomores will not push the UCLA giant from the No. 1 spot in college basketball, but they will make a big difference.

They are big and swift, the best class to come along in the 1960s.

The most spectacular newcomer will be 5-10 guard Calvin Murphy of Niagara. All he can do is dunk the ball, pass like a wizard, rebound and shoot — as his 48.9 points per game average on the freshman team shows. And, who knows, between halves he may flit out twirling a baton, as he does at Buffalo Bill football games. Rick Mount of Purdue should rival Murphy for points and press clippings. He may be the greatest Indiana prep product since Oscar Robertson. Mount, from Lebanon, Ind., broke the Boilermaker frosh scoring record with a 35-point average. With a solid group of veterans back from last season, there is optimism in Lafayette that Mount will lead the team to the Big Ten title.

Also in the Big Ten, Minnesota is lauding two sophomores — one with an especially impressive genealogy. Larry Mikan, whose father George also three terrific sophomores, who played the game, is a 6-7 center, made last season's frosh team. He will be sixth man, playing one of Kentucky's best, will behind Gopher record-setter again put Rupp in familiar surroundings. The other soph. roundings — near or at the top of Larry Overskei, 6-6, is a fine Southeastern Conference outside shot and will crack the three guard Mike Casey, 6-8 center Dan Issel, and 6-3 forward Mike Pratt.

At Louisiana State, prospects look somewhat better than last year. Which is saying little since it was 3-23. But coach Press Maravich has several sophomore stars coming up. Included in the group is a kid named Pete Maravich, son of the coach. The younger Maravich, a 6-5 guard, averaged 43.6 points a game for the frosh squad.

Another SEC sophomore star will be Perry Wallace of Vanderbilt. The 6-5 center is a first Negro ever to play in that league. He can rebound. He can shoot. And he can help Vanderbilt retain its SEC title.

Cincinnati's exceptional sophomore is Jim Ard, whose forte is defense. He was a pivotman on the frosh squad, but will be at forward in his team's race for the Missouri Valley Conference championship. Pricenton looks to a pair of newcomers to aid them in keeping a firm grasp on the top rung in the Ivy League. A 6-7 forward, John Hummer, and 6-3 guard Jeff Petrie will step in as starters.

North Carolina needs little help to retain its Atlantic Coast Conference championship, what with a bunch of veterans back, including All-American Larry Miller. Just in case, though, 6-5 sophomore Charlie Scott, who jumps like there's no gravity and had a 25-point average as a freshman, will be around to assist.

At UCLA, defending NCAA champion, 6-8 sophomore Steve Patterson may break into the lineup. At some other school, he might be the lineup. But the Bruins have a few other guys named Lew Alcindor, Edgar Lacey, Mike Lynn, Lucius Allen, Mike Warren, Lynn Schackelford and Ken Heitz. So much for the college basketball season.

Reinstate Eight U Of I Protestors

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Eight University of Illinois students who were dismissed as a result of the Oct. 25 protest against the presence of Dow Chemical Co. recruiters on campus were reinstated Monday.

The Senate Committee on Student Discipline, made up of 12 academic deans, dismissed and vacated the charges against one student and readmitted the other seven on probation.

The committee said the one student was not put on probation because he co-operated and did not bring a lawyer to his hearing. The other seven were represented before the committee by Prof. Herbert Semmel of the U. of I. law school.

Semmel said he advised the students "to make no statements because they were not given due process, in this case the right to cross examine their accusers."

The Senate committee said dismissal was too harsh a punishment in view of the circumstances. They agreed with Semmel in finding the protest to be non-violent.

On Thursday, the committee will hear the cases of 47 more students who have been dismissed for allegedly signing complicity statements. John Werry, associate professor of psychiatry, received a letter of reprimand for his part in the protest. Werry said he regarded his punishment as just because he believes the civilly disobedient must expect punishment.

TOO MUCH BENCH BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Joe Ripmaster was on the university of Colorado football squad for two seasons and never left the bench. This year when he was sent in with the kickoff team late in the game with Iowa State, Rip injured his knee and had to be helped off the field.

INSURANCE INSIGHTS

By Charlie Hayes

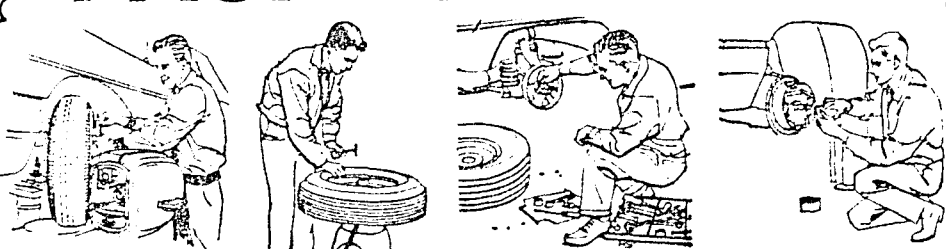

Do you know why you need health insurance? The peace of mind offered by insurance shouldn't be underestimated. A disability caused by an accident or sickness creates two situations. First, it results in a loss of income. This is because the individual is no longer working. Second, it creates extra expenses due to medical and hospital care. The greatest asset of the average breadwinner is his ability to earn an income. If he becomes unable to work, his income will promptly stop. Other sources of income must then be found. Suppose you had a machine that turned out several $100 bills each month. Would you insure it? Of course! And your daily, Sat. 9 to Noon.

salary should be insured just as is anything else that is valuable. The estimate of the total annual losses due to accident or sickness is over $30 billion. WATCH NEXT WEEK FOR "HEALTH INSURANCE CONTRACTS". HAYES INSURANCE CENTER, INC., is fully aware of all forms of insurance protection. Whether you are in need of business, personal or estate protection, we surely can help. Centralize your insurance with HAYES INSURANCE CENTER, INC., 311 W. Morgan Street, 245-2151. Open 8:30 to 5, sure it? Of course! And your daily, Sat. 9 to Noon.

Polly's Pointers

Color Association Aids Tots' Training

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — To teach small children good telephone manners, hang or place a small blackboard by the telephone. On it write what the children are to say, such as "Hello, this is the (your surname) residence; (your child's name) speaking." The child soon memorizes this and this telephone courtesy is appreciated.

Those mothers with first graders who have trouble learning to identify different colors will find it helps to take several blank sheets of paper and, on each, draw a heavy circle with a different primary color. Print the name of the color in the center of the circle. Tape these sheets to something and watch the child look at the color, then find objects in the room to match it as he or she says the name of the color aloud. Mine found this fun and helpful.

Children can easily learn to put things in their proper drawers and then find them in a hurry if you mark each dresser drawer with a small piece of masking tape on which the principal contents of the drawer are marked in ink. Cover this tape with transparent plastic tape for longer wear. This is also a boon to baby sitters.—LAUREL out, now the entire dress (right side, too) is nothing but a mass of blotches. I sent it to the dry cleaners but it does not look much better. I hope someone can help me out of this dilemma. This is a good dress that I would like to wear.—EILEEN

DEAR POLLY—Mrs. J. M. G. will have no more sliding if she puts an inexpensive, foam-backed, plastic place mat underneath the foot pedal of her electric sewing machine. This keeps one from sliding on a polished wood or terrazzo floor.—O. M. H.

DEAR POLLY — I had the same problem as Mrs. J. M. G. until I started using a small rug with a foam rubber backing under my sewing machine pedal. Dust particles and lint on the bottom of the foot also made it slide before.—MRS. J. J. W.

DEAR POLLY—I keep a rubber floor mat on the floor under my sewing machine foot piece. It rests on the rubber and never moves around.—MRS. E. G.

Sherried fig topping for company dinner

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

Stuffed Roast Veal Shoulder
Potatoes Artichoke Hearts
Salad Bowl Rolls
Ice Cream with Sherried Figs

SHERRIED FIGS
1 pound (18 large table figs)
2 cups medium-dry sherry
1 vanilla bean, broken into 6 pieces

In a ceramic jar container put all the ingredients — the sherry should just cover the figs. Cover. Allow to stand at room temperature for several weeks before serving so that the vanilla flavors the sherry and the sherry flavors the figs; the sherry becomes sweeter and thicker with one fig with a little of the flavored sherry as a topping for each portion of vanilla ice cream.

BLUFFS WSCS AT P. B. SMITH HOME

BLUFFS — The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Bluffs Methodist church met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Paul B. Smith with the social hour.

Mrs. Orville Gathard assisted. Eleven members answered roll call with a Bible verse with Friday morning.

The meeting opened with singing a group of Christmas Carols.

Mrs. Smith, president, presided at the business session.

Reports of the secretary and treasurer were heard and filed. The January meeting will be held on January 11 instead of the 4th.

The society was asked to serve the Nunes-Mueller wedding reception on December 17 and committees were appointed.

It was voted to send Christmas remembrances to two people in the community.

Mrs. Emmett Biddle assisted by Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Donald Merris, Mrs. Harold Oakes, Mrs. Merton Pond presented the program "Let's Listen and Learn" which was followed by an interesting discussion.

Mrs. Pond closed the meeting with a Christmas Thought for the Day.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses during the social hour.

Horace Grimes was taken to the Wabash Hospital in Decatur Friday morning.

1968 LTD by Ford 2-Door Formal Hardtop

1968 Ford XL Fastback

Here's a Better "Catch Up" Idea:
Only Ford offers Hardtops — formal and fastback — in 3 sizes

Full-size Ford! Action-size Torino! Sport-size Mustang!
It's the hardtop choice nobody can match—five fastbacks and nine formal hardtops in three different sizes! Deal now while your Ford Dealer's catching up.

Ford's full-size hardtops feature top-of-the-line luxury with formal or fastback styling. XL is the classic, full-size fastback that gives you a choice of bench or bucket seats. And there's no extra cost for Ford's fastback styling! LTD, available in 2- and 4-door models, is XL's formal hardtop counterpart. All feature disappearing headlamps and strong die-cast grille at no extra cost. You'll find a full-size choice in Galaxie 500 fastbacks and hardtops, too!

Or discover the brand-new Torino and the modestly priced Fairlane. They're the only intermediate size hardtops that let you choose between formal or true fastback styling (at no extra cost)! Both seat six adults in total comfort. Both give you a full 116-in. wheelbase (longer than 38 competing models).

For 1968, Mustang gives you a choice of the best-selling hardtop in the world or the best known fastback of all. Only Mustang gives you all this, at no extra cost: bucket seats, floor-mounted stick shift, wall-to-wall carpeting and 3-speed fully synchronized transmission.

Nobody gives you a hardtop choice like Ford. Make your choice now while your Ford Dealer makes up for lost time.

By Wally Wood
WHAT ARE YOU DOING TO THAT TREE?
YOU CAN EXPLAIN IT TO HIS MAJESTY, OLLIE GARK!
NEVER MIND... YOU'RE ALL UNDER ARREST FOR DEFACING PUBLIC PROPERTY!
FOUND THESE STRANGERS IN THE FOREST, YOUR MAJESTY!
WHAT CRIME ARE THEY GUILTY OF?
YOU MEAN ACCUSED OF, DON'T YOU?
NO... I MEAN GUILTY!

Republicans Rap Administration's Economic Policy
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican party leaders accused the Democrats Monday of "eight years of deficits and irresponsible spending," which they said have pushed the United States to the brink of economic crisis.
"In short, the Republican Coordinating Committee said, the powerful United States economy has been undermined and weakened by an administration whose fiscal policies are marked by wild extravagance on the one hand, and by delay, expediency and coverup on the other."
There was unanimity on that declaration, but not in the political comments of the party's governors and congressional leaders.
Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin said he opposes the request of the GOP governors that one of their number be named a cochairman of the platform committee at the 1968 national convention.
"One person has to be responsible," Laird said, and the person should be Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.
Neither Dirksen nor Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss would take a position on the governors' request.
Laird asserted also that the governors made a mistake and lost their influence over the selection of a Republican presidential nominee by failing to group around any single candidate.
And he said that has hurt the presidential chances of Michigan's Gov. George Romney.
"Why is he telling the governors what to do?" asked New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.
"Have the Republicans in Congress taken a position on a candidate?"
Laird himself has not. He said House GOP leaders will back the presidential contender who appears most likely to help win new Republican seats in Congress.
At this point, he said, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon probably has more backing in the House than any other contender.
EXPONENT
OTTAWA (AP) — Expo 67 gave Canada a favorable balance of tourist spending for the second quarter of 1967, according to Bureau of Statistics figures. Visitors spent $120 million more in Canada than Canadians spent abroad in the April-June period compared with a deficit of $56 million for the same three months in 1966. The report said more than 90 per cent of the spending in Canada was by American visitors.
Soviet scientists estimate there are 20,000 glaciers in their country.
